Soul Burying.

Whenever an Abchasian is drowned his friends search carefully for the body, but if this is not found they pro ceed to capture the soul of the deceased, a measure which has then become a matter of importance. A goat skin bag is sprinkled with water and placed with its mouth, which is stretched open for a hoop, looking towards the river, near the place where the man is supposed to have been drowned. Two cords are stretched from the spot across the river as a bridge on which the soul can come over. Vessels containing food and drink are set around the skin, and the friends of the deceased come and eat quietly, while a song is sung with instrumental accom-paniments. The soul, it is believed, is attracted by the ceremonies, comes over on the bridge that is laid for it, and goes into the trap. As soon as it has entered-that is when the bag is inflated by the breeze-the opening is quickly closed, and the bag is taken up to the burial place where a grave has already been prepared. The bag is held with the opening to the grave, the strings are untied, and the soul-that is, the wind in the bag—is squeezed in-to the grave and the burial is afterwards completed. This rite is considered as equivalent value with the burial of the body, and the grave is treated with the same honor as if the body the Equitable Life Assurance Society of this city shortly after his nomination Punched U. S. Silver Coin nouncement of the President's death the Society sent a check for the amout of the policy to their agent in Philadelphia, with instructions to notify Attorney-General MacVeah, as the representative of the family, of the fact. This check is now in the Attorney-General's possession.

Upon entering Williams College, in 1854, the late President insured his life for $500 in the Mutual Life of this city, using the policy as security for a loan of $500. He repaid the loan soon after graduation and the policy was allowed to lapse.

Ague Cure

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Pumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coluness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms, which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arseand profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic and other poisonous minerals, form the basis of most of the "Fever and Agne Preparations." "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. ATER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, Ayer's Ague

For Liver Complaints, Aven's Ague Cune, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to President Garfield's Insurance.

Aside from the subscription fund for the benefit of Mrs. Garfield and some $25,000 in real estate, the President's widow and children will receive $35,000 in the way of insurance which the President had effected upon his life. He took out a policy for $25,000 in the New York Life Insurance Company no longer ago than April 23d of the current year, paying one premium thereon. At the time the company considered him a splendid risk and would gladly have insured him for any amount. As soon as an administrator of the estate is appointed, the company will immediately pay the loss, without discount. General Garfield also took out a policy for $10,000 in the Equitable Life Assurance Society of this city shortly after his nomination
